

Let us find you the perfect candidate

Leadership & Management Specialist

Sheena is a Secondary Deputy Headteacher with considerable experience as a CPD trainer and writer. Her special interests are leadership and management training at all levels and self-evaluation/quality assurance. She is an accredited executive Coach (ILM Level 5/University of Strathclyde).

Having started her career as an English teacher with the British Council in Finland, Sheena became a Head of English in 1996. She has completed three secondments at Authority level, initially in 1990 as a Development Officer in English, Literacy (3-18) and subsequently as a Leadership Development Officer for the City of Edinburgh from 2006-2008. Sheena brings knowledge, credibility and highly-developed interpersonal skills to her work. An enthusiastic and motivational speaker, she frequently presents at seminars and conferences locally and nationally.

Sheena is interested in any part-time or flexible CPD opportunities in Scotland, Ireland or the North of England and would also be interested in Interim Management positions.

053/09/02/SG

Leadership Consultant/RC School Specialist

Michael has recently retired after gaining more than 20 years of Headship experience in Catholic Secondary schools. His last post included a shared Sixth Form with a neighbouring Church of England school.

Michael's expertise includes revising management systems, creating structures for middle managers, developing planning resources, target setting, internal review systems and staff development.

He has experience of Headteacher appraisal, NPQH assessment, Specialist School development, Assessment for Learning and lesson observation to Ofsted criteria. Through his work with school improvement advisors and consultants and range of senior management teams, Michael has highly-developed critical, advisory and support skills. His particular specialisms are planning improvement in the face of declining educational outcomes and the Roman Catholic school system.

Michael is available now to work for short-term full-time or part-time appointments.

035/09/02/MS

Leadership and CPD Specialist

With a background of teaching PE in inner city schools for 20 years, Howard's roles have included Head of Department, Head of 6th Form, various pastoral posts and the Headship of an 800-pupil Comprehensive school until January 2007. He now works as a consultant, specialising in leadership development, QTS assessment and delivering CPD. Howard has experience of working under Special Measures and of mergers.

Howard's additional qualifications include: accredited SIP, trained Ofsted inspector and Chief Examiner/Moderator for GCSE PE. He has also been involved in a Leading Edge Partnership, a Performance Collaborative and a Learning Schools Partnership. He has considerable experience of collaborative working. With expertise covering all aspects of school leadership and management, Howard has gained the reputation of being a problem-solver as well as a 'people person'. He is a highly effective communicator with the ability to inspire, motivate and enthuse others.

Howard is available to work in either a part- or full-time capacity in the Secondary sector.

040/09/02/HG

Senior Leadership Adviser

Neil retired from Headship in 2002 after 18 years of successful Secondary School leadership. His last school was considered to be in challenging circumstances. It served a very disadvantaged catchment with a high proportion of Special Educational Needs. Through the introduction of a series of effective initiatives, and the fostering of positive links with the local community, the school became very successful. It was one of the first schools in the country to win the Investors in People Award (1994) for the quality of management and CPD. The school has continued to maintain this award and it won the Schools' Award for Achievement twice in Neil's last two years as Headteacher.

Neil taught Chemistry for more than 30 years but his speciality is the theory and practice of management skills – he applied these successfully to the leadership and management of his school. Neil has also supported local Headteachers in difficulty, assisted other schools in challenging circumstances and addressed key areas such as leadership issues, curriculum mapping, staffing structure, assessment and data management.

Neil is available to work two days a week.

015/09/01/NT

This is just a small selection of candidates available for work.
For further information, email or call us straight away using the contact details below

call us on: 020 8253 8247

email: leadership@creativeeducation.co.uk

or visit our website: www.creativeeducation.co.uk/leadership